The Notes have a scheduled maturity date of 27 March 2019 and are linked (in respect of both interest and principal) to the performance of the FTSE™ 100 Index. (the Index). The redemption amount of the Notes will be determined by the performance of the Index determined on the Final Valuation Date (which is scheduled for 13 March 2019) in comparison to the initial level of the Index determined on the Strike Date (13 March 2013). If the performance of the Index on the Final Valuation Date is greater than or equal to 61.8286% of the initial level of the Index determined on the Strike Date, an investor will receive 100% of its initial investment. However if the performance of the Index on the Final Valuation Date is less than 61.8286% of its initial level determined on the Strike Date, an investor will receive an amount determined by reference to the percentage change between the level of the Index on the Final Valuation Date and the initial level of the Index on the Strike Date. In such situation investors will receive less than their initial investment and in a worst case may lose all of their initial investment. The Notes are not principal protected.

An interest coupon may be payable in respect of each Observation Period (as defined above) the amount of which will depend on the number of Scheduled Trading Days during an Observation Period that the performance of the Index closes between a predefined range.

Any coupon will be determined by multiplying 3.12% by, the number of Scheduled Trading Days during the relevant Observation Period in respect of which the performance of the Index is equal to or greater than 61.8286% and equal to or lower than 123.6572% divided by the total number of Scheduled Trading Days during such Observation Period.
