

Marc Moses

Group Chief Risk Officer, HSBC Holdings plc

* Chief risk officer for Global Banking & Markets through the crisis ****

Marc Moses has been appointed Group Chief Risk Officer, HSBC Holdings plc, with effect from 3 December 2010. Marc also becomes a group managing director and joins the group management board with responsibility for risk and compliance.

Marc (53) joined HSBC in November 2005 as chief financial and risk officer with global responsibility for leading and managing the global banking and markets finance and risk functions. In January 2008 he was also appointed chief of staff, responsible for all infrastructure in Global Banking and Markets.

Marc began his career as an actuarial trainee at Sedgwick before joining Bankers Trust as a fixed income, money market and futures trader. A qualified accountant, he was audit partner and head of the market risk advisory group at PricewaterhouseCoopers. In 1999 he joined JP Morgan as European chief financial officer and global head of the valuation control group.

Marc lives in North London and is married with four children. He is a keen Arsenal supporter and enjoys playing tennis.

*Group Communications
November 2010*