In the future, the food chain and the supply chain will merge.

In tomorrow's global economy, every resource will be counted. HSBC is one of the world's leading supply chain organisations. We help companies keep tabs on stock across six continents – and five oceans. The future starts today.

There's more on world trade at www.hsbc.com/inthefuture

