

Hetoon, Commercial Banking

Speaker: Hetoon

Hetoon: The reason why I chose to work at HSBC is because it matches my core values, such as diversity, acceptance and open-mindedness, as well as I wanted to prove to myself that I can do anything, and HSBC is the right place for me to do that.

Other than my day-to-day tasks, I do have other opportunities for me to expand my knowledge as well as my career path. I have volunteered to organise a mental health event where we speak about mental health and how to take care of ourselves. HSBC does give you other opportunities for you to do different things, discover new skills or new things that you enjoy.

If I could describe [the] HSBC Graduate Programme in one sentence, it would be exciting because HSBC is going to give you a lot of opportunities for you to expand your knowledge as well as expand your career.

I feel like I have achieved something because it was not an easy journey for me to sit down and basically learn new things. It was a big achievement, and if I did not give myself a chance to push myself, then I would not have come this far.
