Global Head, Carbon Removal Technologies, HSBC

[Kash]

I was always really curious to understand how the world got to be the way it is today.

When I was growing up there was always a lot of conversation at the dinner table around current, affairs, politics, economics.

I was constantly asking questions: "How did we get here?" "Why is it the way it is?"

That curiosity stuck with me as I grew older.

So, I'm basically a Carbon Removal Technology Specialist sitting within HSBC.

I join the dots between technology, economics, and policy with finance to help scale carbon removal industries.

What excites me the most about the future is seeing carbon removal technologies move from a concept to a blueprint to reality.

HSBC has enabled me to bring together everything that I've learned in my career not just talk about things but effect real change.

For someone who's spent a lifetime asking questions about why the world is the way it is, HSBC provides me with that platform not just to explore but to affect change with it.
